WHEN I was first call'd to the Office of Historiographer to John Bull, he express'd himself to this Purpose: Sir Humphry, I know you are a plain Dealer; it is for that Reason I have chosen you for this important Trust; speak the Truth, and spare not. That I might fulfil those his honourable Intentions, I obtain'd Leave to repair to, and attend him in his most secret Retirements; and I put the Journals of all Transactions into a strong Box, to be open'd at a fitting Occasion, after the Manner of the Historiographers of some Eastern Monarchs: This I thought was the safest Way; tho' I declare I was never afraid to be chop'd by my Master for telling of Truth. It is from those Journals that my Memoirs are compil'd: Therefore let not Posterity, a Thousand Years hence, look for Truth in the voluminous Annals of Pedants, who are intirely ignorant of the secret Springs of great Actions; if they do, let me tell them, they will be Nebus'd. With incredible Pains have I endeavour'd to copy the several Beauties of the ancient and modern Historians; [the impartial Temper of Herodotus, the Gravity, Austerity, and

*strict Morals of Thucidides, the extensive Knowledge of Xenophon, the Sublimity and Grandeur of Titus Livius, and to avoid the careless Style of Polybius : I have borrow'd considerable Ornaments from Dionysius Halicarnasseus and Diodorus Siculius : The specious Gilding of Tacitus I endeavour'd to shun. Mariana, Davila, and Fra. Paulo, are those amongst the Moderns whom I thought most worthy of Imitation ; but I cannot be so disingenuous, as not to own the infinite Obligations I have to the Pilgrim's Progress of John Bunyon, and the Tenter Belly of the Reverend Joseph Hall.
 From such Encouragement and Helps, it is easy to guess to what a Degree of Perfection I might have brought this great Work, had it not been nip'd in the Bud by some illiterate People in both Houses of Parliament, who envying the great Figure I was to make in future Ages, under Pretence of raising Money for the War, have padlock'd all those very Pens that were to celebrate the Actions of their Heroes, by silencing at once the whole University of Grubstreet. I am perswaded, that nothing but the Prospect of an approaching Peace could have encourag'd them to make so bold a Step. But suffer me, in the Name of the rest of the Matriculates of that famous University, to ask them some plain Questions : Do they think that Peace will bring along with it the Golden Age ? Will there be never a Dying Speech of a Traitor ? Are Cethegus and Cataline turn'd so tame, that there will be no Opportunity to cry about the Streets, A Dangerous Plot ? Will Peace bring such Plenty, that no Gentleman*

tleman will have Occasion to go upon the Highway, or break into a House? I am sorry that the World should be so much impos'd upon by the Dreams of a False Prophet, as to imagine the Millennium is at hand. O Grubstreet! thou fruitful Nursery of tow'ring Genius's! how do I lament thy Downfal?
 Thy Ruin could never be meditated by any who meant well to English Liberty: No modern Lycæum will ever equal thy Glory, whether in soft Pastorals, thou sung the Flames of pamper'd Apprentices and coy Cook-Maids, or mournful Ditties of departing Lovers; or if to Mæonian Strains thou rais'd thy Voice, to record the Stratagems, the arduous Exploits, and the nocturnal Scalade of needy Heroes, the Terror of your peaceful Citizen, describing the Powerful Betty, or the artful Picklock, or the secret Caverns and Grotto's of Vulcan sweating at his Forge, and stamping the Queen's Image on viler Metals, which he retails for Beef, and Pots of Ale; or if thou wert content in simple Narrative to relate the cruel Acts of implacable Revenge, or the Complaints of ravish'd Virgins, blushing to tell their Adventure before the listening Crowd of City Damsels, whilst in thy faithful History thou intermingles the gravest Counsels and the purest Morals: Nor less acute and piercing wert thou in thy Search and pompous Description of the Works of Nature, whether in proper and Emphatick Terms thou didst paint the blazing Comets fiery Tail, the stupendous Force of dreadful Thunder and Earthquakes, and the unrelenting Inundations. Sometimes, with Machia-velian Sagacity, thou unravellest the Intrigues of State,

State, and the traiterous Conspiracies of Rebels giving wise Counsel to Monarchs. How didst thou move our Terror and our Pity with thy passionate Scenes, between Jack-catch and the Heroes of the Old-Baily! How didst thou describe their intrepid March up Holborn-Hill! Nor didst thou shine less in thy theological Capacity, when thou gavest ghostly Counsel to dying Felons, and recorded the guilty Pangs of Sabbath-breakers! How will the noble Arts of John Overton's Painting and Sculpture now languish! where rich Invention, proper Expression, correct Design, divine Altitudes, and artful Contract, heighten'd with the Beauties of Clar-Obscur, embellish'd thy celebrated Pieces to the Delight and Astonishment of the judicious Multitude! Adieu persuasive Eloquence! the quaint Metaphor, the poignant Irony, the proper Epithet, and the lively Simile, are fled to Burleigh on the Hill: Instead of these, we shall have I know not what-----

Preface.

* The Illiterate will tell the rest with Pleasure! I hope the Reader will excuse the Digression, due by way of Condolance, to my worthy Brethren of Grubstreet, for the approaching Barbarity that is likely to overspread all its Regions, by this oppressive and exorbitant Tax. It has been my good Fortune to receive my Education there, and so long as I preserv'd some Figure and Rank amongst the Learned of that Society, I scorned to take my Degree either at Utrecht or Leyden, though I was offer'd it gratis by the Professors there.

JOHN BULL

POLITICIAN.

C H A P. I.

The Sequel of the History of the Meeting at the Salutation.

WHere, I think, I left John Bull, sitting between Nic. Frog and Lewis Baboon, with his Arms a-kimbo, in great Concern to keep Lewis and Nic. asunder. As watchful as he was, Nic. found the Means, now and then, to steal a Whisper, and, by a cleanly Conveyance under the Table, ble, to slip a short Note into Lewis's Hand, which Lewis as slyly put into John's Pocket, with a Pinch or a Jog, to warn him what he was about. John had the Curiosity to retire into a Corner, to peruse these Billet deux of Nic's; wherein he found, that Nic, had used great Freedoms, both with his Interest and Reputation. One contained these Words, Dear Lewis, Thou seest clearly that this Blockhead can never bring his Matters to bear: Let thee and me talk to night by our selves at the Rose, and I'll give thee Satisfaction. Another was thus express'd; Friend Lewis, Has thy Sense quite forsaken thee, to make Bull such Offers? Hold fast, part with nothing, and I will give thee a better Bargain, I'll warrant thee.

In some of his Billets, he told Lewis " that
 " John Bull was under his Guardianship; that " the best Part of his Servants were at his " Command; that he could have John gagg'd
 " and bound whenever he pleased, by the " People of his own Family." In all these Epistles, Blockhead, Duncce, Ass, Coxcomb, were the best Epithets he gave poor John:
 In others he threatned, " that He, Esquire
 " South, and the rest of the Tradesmen, would " lay Lewis down upon his Back, beat out
 " his Teeth, if he did not retire immediately,
 " and break up the Meeting.

I fancy I need not tell my Reader, that John often chang'd Colour as he read, and that his Fingers itch'd to give Nic. a good Slap on the Chops; but he wisely moderated his cholerick Temper: ' I sav'd this Fellow (quoth he) from the Gallows, when he ran away from his last Master, because I thought he was harshly treated; but the Rogue was no sooner safe under my Protection, than he began to lie, pilfer, and steal, like the Devil: When I first set him up in a warm House, he had hardly put up his Sign, when he began to debauch my best Customers from me: Then it was his constant Practice to rob my Fish-Ponds, not only to feed his Family, but to trade with the Fishmongers: I conniv'd at the Fellow till he began to tell me, that they were his as much as mine: In my Manour of Eastcheap, because it lay at some Distance from my constant Inspection, he broke down my Fences, robb'd my Orchards, and beat my Servants. When I us'd to reprimand him for his Tricks, he would talk saucily, lye, and brazen it out, as if he had done nothing amiss. Will nothing cure thee of thy Pranks Nic. (quoth I?) I shall be forced, some time or another, to chastise thee: The Rogue got up his Cane and threatthreatned me, and was well thwack'd for his Pains: But I think his Behaviour at this time worst of all; after I have almost drowned my self, to keep his Head above Water, he would leave me sticking in the Mud, trusting to his Goodness to help me out. After I have beggar'd my self with his troublesome Law-Suit, with a Pox to him, he takes it in mighty Dudgeon because I have brought him here to end Matters amicably, and because I won't let him make me over, by Deed and Indenture, as his lawful Cully; which to my certain Knowledge, he has attempted several times. But, after all, canst thou gather Grapes from Thorns? Nic. does not pretend to be a Gentleman, he is a Tradesman, a self-seeking Wretch, but how camest thou to bear all this, John? The Reason is plain; Thou conferrest the Benefits, and he receives them; the first produces Love, and the last Ingratitude: Ah!

Nic. Nic. thou art a damn'd Dog, that's certain; thou knowest too well, that I will take care of thee, else thou would'st not use me thus: I won't give thee up, it is true; but as true as it is, thou shalt not sell me, according to thy laudable Custom. While John was deep in this Soliloquy,

‘ liloquy, Nic. broke out into the following ‘ Protestation.

Gentlemen,

‘ I believe every Body here present will ‘ allow me to be a very just and disinterest‘ ed Person. My Friend John Bull here is ‘ very angry with me, forsooth, because I ‘ won’t agree to his foolish Bargains. Now
 ‘ I declare to all Mankind, I should be rea‘ dy to sacrifice my own Concerns to his ‘ Quiet: But the Care of his Interest, and ‘ that of the honest Tradesmen that are em-‘ bark’d with us, keeps me from entring in-
 ‘ to this Composition. What shall become ‘ of those poor Creatures? The Thoughts ‘ of their impending Ruin disturbs my ‘ Night’s Rest, therefore I desire they may ‘ speak for themselves. If they are willing ‘ to give up this Affair, I shan’t make two ‘ Words of it.

John Bull begg’d him to lay aside that immoderate Concern for him; and withal, put him in mind, that the Interest of those Tradesmen had not sat quite so heavy upon him some Years ago, on a like Occasion. Nic.
 answer’d little to that, but immediately pull’d out a Boatswain’s Whistle; upon the first Whiff, the Tradesmen came jumping into the Room, and began to surround Lewis

like so many yelping Curs about a great Boar, or, to use a modefter Simile, like Duns at a great Lord's Leve the Morning he goes into the Country; one pull'd him by the Sleeve, another by the Skirt, a third hallow'd in his Ear; they began to ask him for all that had been taken from their Forefathers by Stealth, Fraud, Force, or lawful Purchase; some ask'd for Manours, others for Acres, that lay convenient for them; that he would pull down his Fences, level his Ditches; all agreed in one common Demand, that he should be purg'd, sweated, vomited, and starv'd, till he came to a sizeable Bulk, like that of his Neighbours; one modestly ask'd him Leave to call him Brother; Nic. Frog demanded two Things, to be his Porter and his Fishmonger, to keep the Keys of his Gates, and furnish his Kitchen; John's Sister Peg only desir'd that he would let his Servants sing Psalms a Sundays; some descended even to the asking of old Cloaths, Shoes, and Boots, broken Bottles, Tobacco-pipes, and Ends of Candles.

Monsieur Bull (quoth Lewis) you seem to be a Man of some Breeding; for God's sake use your Interest with these Messieurs, that they wou'd speak but one at once; for if one had had a hundred pair of Hands, and as many Tongues, he cannot satisfy them all at this Rate. John begg'd they might proceed with some Method; then they stop'd all of a sudden, and would not say a Word. If this be your Play (quoth John) that we may not be like a Quaker's dumb Meeting, let us begin some Diversion; what d'ye think of Rouly-Pouly, or a Country-Dance? What if we should have a Match at Football! I am sure we shall never end Matters at this Rate.

C H A P. II.

How John Bull and Nic. Frog settled their Accompts.

J. Bull. DURING this general Cessation of Talk, what if You and I Nic. should enquire how Money-Matters stand between us?

Nic. Frog. With all my Heart, I love exact Dealing; and let Hocus Audit; he knows how the Money was disburs'd.

J. Bull. I am not much for that at present; we'll settle it between Our selves: Fair and Square, Nic. keeps Friends together. There have been laid out in this Law-Suit, at one time 36000 Pounds and 40000 Crowns: In some Cases I, in others you, bear the greatest Proportion.

Nic.

Nic. Right : I pay three Fifths of the greatest Number, and you pay two Thirds of the lesser Number: I think this is Fair and Square as you call it.

John. Well, go on.

Nic. Two Thirds of 36000 Pounds are 24000 Pounds for your Share, and there remains 12000 for mine. Again, Of the 40000 Crowns I pay 24000, which is three Fifths, and you pay only 16000, which is two Fifths; 24000 Crowns make 6000 Pounds, and 16000 Crowns make 4000 Pounds: 12000 and 6000 make 18000: 24000 and 4000 makes 28000. So there are 18000 Pounds to my Share of the Expences, and 28000 to yours.

After Nic. had bambouzed John a while about the 18000 and the 28000, John call'd for Counters; but what with Slight of Hand, and taking from his own Score and adding to John's, Nic. brought the Ballance always on his own Side.

J. Bull. Nay, good Friend Nic. though I am not quite so nimble in the Fingers, I understand Cyphering as well as you; I will produce you my Accompts one by one, fairly writ out of my own Books: And here I begin with the first. You must excuse me if I don't pronounce the Law Terms right, Diego's Defect.

John Bull. As for your Venire facias, I have paid you for one already ; in the other, I believe you will be nonsuited : I'll take care of my Nephew my self. Your Coach-hire and Family Charges are most unreasonable Deductions ; at that Rate, I can bring in any Man in the World my Debtor. But who the Devil are those two Majors that consume all my Money? I find they always run away with the Ballance in all Accompts.

Nic. Frog. Two very honest Gentlemen, I assure you, that have done me some Service.

To tell you plainly Major Ab. denotes thy greater Ability, and Major Will thy greater Willingness to carry on this Law-suit. It was but reasonable thou shouldst pay both for thy Power and thy Positiveness.

J. Bull. I believe I shall have those two honest Majors discount on my side in a little Time.

Nic. Frog. Why all this Higgling with thy Friend about such a paltry Sum? Does this become the Generosity of the Noble and Rich John Bull? I wonder thou art not ashamed. Oh Hocus! Hocus! where art thou, it used to go another-guess manner in thy Time, when a poor Man has almost undone himself for thy Sake, thou art for fleecing him and fleecing him; is that thy Conscience John?

J. Bull. Very pleasant indeed; it is well known thou retains thy Laywers by the Year, so a fresh Law-suit adds but little to thy Expence, they are thy Customers, I hardly ever ell them a Farthings worth of any thing; nay, thou hast set up an Eating-house, where the whole Tribe of them spend all they can rap e run; if it were well reckon'd, I believe thou thou gets more of my Money than thou spends of thy own: However, if thou wilt needs plead Poverty, own at least that thy Accompts are false.

Nic. Frog. No marry won't I, I refer my self to these honest Gentlemen, let them judge between us; let Esquire South speak his Mind, whether my Accounts are not right, and whether we ought not to go on with our Law-suit.

J. Bull. Consult the Butchers about keeping of Lent. I tell you once for all, John Bull knows where his Shoe pinches, none of your Esquires shall give him the Law, as long as he wears this trusty Weapon by his Side, or has an Inch of broad Cloth in his Shop.

Nic. Frog. Why there it is, you will be both Judge and Party; I am sorry thou discoverest so much of thy head-strong Humour before these strange Gentlemen, I have often told you that it would prove thy Ruin some time or another.

John saw clearly he should have nothing but wrangling, and that he should have as little Success in settling his Accounts as ending the Composition: Since they will needs overload my Shoulders (quoth John) I shall throw down the Burden with a squash amongst them, take it up who dares; a Man has a fine
C 2 time

time of it, amongst a Combination of Sharpers, that Vouch for one anothers Honesty.
John look to thy self, Old Lewis makes reasonable Offers, when thou hast spent the small Pittance that is left, thou wilt make a glorious Figure when thou art brought to live upon Nic. Frog and Esquire South's Generosity and Gratitude, if they use thee thus, when they want thee, what will they do when thou wants them? I say again, John look to thy self?

John wisely stifled his Resentments, and told the Company, that in a little time he should give them Law, or something better.

All. Law! Law! Sir, by all means, what is Twenty Two poor Years towards the finishing a Law-suit? For the Love of God, more Law, Sir!

J. Bull. Prepare your Demands, how many Years more of Law you want, that I may order my Affairs accordingly. In the mean while farewell.

C H A P. III.

How John Bull found all his Family in an Uproar at Home.

Nic. Frog, who thought of nothing but carrying John to the Market, and there disposing disposing of him as his own proper Goods, was mad to find that John thought himself now of Age to look after his own Affairs: He resolv'd to traverse this new Project, and to make him uneasy in his own Family. He had corrupted or deluded most of his Servants into the extravagantest Conceits in the World, that their Master was run mad, and wore a Dagger in one Pocket, and Poison in the other; that he had sold his Wife and Children to Lewis, disinherited his Heir, and was going to settle his Estate upon a Parish Boy; that if they did not look after their Master, he would do some very mischievous Thing. When John came home, he found a more surprising Scene than any he had yet met with, and that you will say, was somewhat extraordinary.

He call'd his Cook-maid Betty to bespeak his Dinner, Betty told him, That she beg'd his Pardon, she could not dress Dinner till she knew what he intended to do with his Will. Why, Betty, Forsooth (quoth John) thou art not run mad art thou? My Will at present is to have Dinner: That may be (quoth Betty) but my Conscience won't allow me to dress it, till I know whether you intend to do righteous Things by your Heir? I am sorry for that Betty (quoth John) I must find some body

body else then. Then he call'd John the Barber. Before I begin (quoth John) I hope your Honour won't be offended, if I ask you whether you intend to alter your Will? If you won't give me a positive Answer, your Beard may grow down to your Middle, for me. I gad and so it shall (quoth Bull) for I will never trust my Throat in such a mad Fellow's Hands. Where's Dick the Butler? Look ye (quoth Dick) I am very willing to serve you in my Calling, d'ye see, but there are strange Reports, and plain-dealing is best, d'ye see. I must be satisfied if you intend to leave all to your Nephew, and if Nic. Frog is still your Executor, d'ye see; if you will not satisfy me as to these Points, d'ye see, you may drink with the Ducks: And so I will (quoth John) rather than keep a Butler that loves my Heir better than my self. Hob the Shoemaker, and Pricket the Taylor told him, they would most willingly serve him in their several Stations, if he would promise them never to talk with Lewis Baboon, and let Nicolas Frog, Linnen-draper, manage his Concerns; that they could neither make Shoes nor Cloaths to any that were not in good Correspondence with their worthy Friend Nicolas.

J. Bull.

J. Bull. Call Andrew my Journey-Man :
How goes Affairs, Andrew? I hope the Devil has not taken Possession of thy Body too.

Andrew. No, Sir, I only desire to know what you would do if you were dead?

J. Bull. Just as other dead Folks do, Andrew.
This is Amazing [Aside.

Andrew. I mean if your Nephew shall inherit your Estate?

J. Bull. That depends upon himself. I shall do nothing to hinder him.

Andrew. But will you make it sure?

J. Bull. Thou mean'st, that I should put him in Possession, for I can make it no surer without that, he has all the Law can give him.

Andrew. Indeed Possession, as you say, would make it much surer; they say, it is Eleven Points of the Law.

John began now to think that they were all enchanted; he enquires about the Age of the Moon, if Nic. had not given them some intoxicating Potion, or if old Mother Jenisa was not still alive. No, o'my Faith (quoth Harry) I believe there is no Potion in the Case, but a little Aurum Potabile. You will have more of this by and by. He had scarce spoke the Word, when of a sudden Don Diego, follow'd by a great Multitude of his

his Tenants and Work-men, came rushing into the Room.

D. Diego. Since those worthy Persons, who are as much concern'd for your Safety as I am, have employ'd me as their Orator, I desire to know whether you will have it by way of Syllogism, Enthymem, Dilemma or Sorites.
John now began to be diverted with their Extravagance.

J. Bull. Let's have a Sorites by all means, tho' they are all new to me.

D. Diego. It is evident to all that are versed in History, that there were two Sisters that play'd the Whore, two thousand Years ago: Therefore it plainly follows, that it is not lawful for John Bull to have any Manner of Entercourse with Lewis Baboon. If it is not lawful for John Bull to have any Manner of Entercourse (Correspondence, if you will, that is much the same thing) then a Fortiori, it is much more, unlawful for the said John to make over his Wife and Children to the said Lewis; if his Wife and Children are not to be made over, he is not to wear a Dagger and Ratsbane in his Pockets; if he wears a Dagger & Ratsbane, it must be to do Mischief to himself or some body else; if he intends to do Mischief, he ought to be under Guardians, and there is none so fit as my self self and some other worthy Persons, who have a Commission for that purpose from Nic. Frog, the Executor of his Will and Testament.

J. Bull. And this is your Sorites, you say; with that he snatch'd a good tough Oaken Cudgel, and began to brandish it; then happy was the Man that was first at the Door; crowding to get out, they tumbled down Stairs; and it is credibly reported, some of them drop'd very valuable Things in the Hurry, which were pick'd up by others of the Family.

That any of these Rogues (quoth John) should imagine I am not as much concern'd as they about having my Affairs in a settled Condition, or that I would wrong my Heir for I know not what. Well Nic. I really cannot but applaud thy Diligence, I must own this is really a pretty sort of a Trick, but it shan't do thy Business for all that.

C H A P. IV.

How Lewis Baboon came to visit John Bull, and what pass'd between them.

I Think it is but ingenuous to acquaint the Reader, that this Chapter was not wrote by Sir Humphry himself, but by another ther very able Pen of the University of Grub-street.

John had (by some good Instructions that was given him by Sir Roger) got the better of his Cholerick Temper, and wrought himself up to a great steadiness of Mind, to pursue his own Interest through all Impediments that were thrown in the way ; he began to leave off some of his old Acquaintance, his roaring and bullying about the Streets ; he put on a serious Air, knit his Brows, and for the time had made a very considerable Progress in Politicks, considering that he had been kept a Stranger to his own Affairs. However, he could not help discovering some Remains of his Nature, when he happen'd to meet with a Foot-Ball, or a Match at Cricket ; for which Sir Roger was sure to take him to Task. John was walking about his Room with folded Arms, and a most thoughtful Countenance, his Servant brought him Word that one Lewis Baboon below wanted to speak with him. John had got an Impression that Lewis was so deadly a cunning Man, that he was afraid to venture himself alone with him : At last he took Heart of Grace. Let him come up (quoth he) it is but sticking to my Point, and he can never over-reach me.

Lewis

Lewis Baboon. Monsieur Bull I will frankly acknowledge, that my Behaviour to my Neighbours has been somewhat uncivil, and I believe you will readily grant me, that I have met with Usage accordingly. I was fond of Back-sword and Cudgel Play from my Youth, and I now bear in my Body many a black and blue Gash and Scars, God knows. I had as good a Ware-house, and as fair Possessions as any of my Neighbours, tho' I say it; but a contentious Temper, flattering Servants, and unfortunate Stars, have brought me into Circumstances that are not unknown to you. These my Misfortunes are heighten'd by domestick Calamities, that I need not relate. I am a poor old batter'd Fellow, and I would willingly end my Days in Peace: But alas, I see but small Hopes of that, for every new Circumstance affords an Argument to my Enemies to pursue their Revenge; formerly I was to be bang'd because I was too Strong, and now because I am too weak to resist, I am to be brought down when too Rich, and oppress'd when too Poor. Nic. Frog has used me like a Scoundrel; You are a Gentleman, and I freely put my self in your Hands, to dispose of me as you think fit.

J. Bull. Look you, Master Baboon, as to your Usage of your Neighbours, you had best not dwell too much upon that Chapter; let it suffice at present that you have been met with, you have been rolling a great Stone up hill all your Life, and at last it has come tumbling down till it is like to crush you to pieces: Plain dealing is best. If you have any particular Mark, Mr. Baboon, whereby one may know when you Fib, and when you speak Truth, you had best tell it me, that one may proceed accordingly; but since at present I know of none such, it is better that you should trust me, than that I should trust you.

L. Baboon. I know of no particular Mark of Veracity, amongst us Tradesmen, but Interest; and it is manifestly mine not to deceive you at this time; you may safely trust me, I can assure you.

J. Bull. The Trust I give is in short this, I must have something in Hand before I make the Bargain, and the rest before it is concluded.

L. Baboon. To shew you I deal fairly, name your Something.

J. Bull. I need not tell thee, old Boy; thou canst guess.

L. Baboon.

L. Baboon. Ecclesdun Castle, I'll warrant you, because it has been formerly in your Family! Say no more, you shall have it.

J. Bull. I shall have it to m'own self?

L. Baboon. To thy n'own self.

J. Bull. Every Wall, Gate, Room, and Inch of Ecclesdun Castle, you say?

L. Baboon. Just so.

J. Bull. Every single Stone of Ecclesdun Castle, to m'own self, speedily!

L. Baboon. When you please, what needs more Words?

J. Bull. But tell me, old Boy, hast thou laid aside all thy Equivocals and Mentals in this Case?

L. Baboon. There is nothing like Matter of Fact.; Seeing is Believing.

J. Bull. Now thou talk'st to the Purpose; let us shake Hands, old Boy. Let me ask thee one Question more, What hast thou to do to meddle with the Affairs of my Family? To dispose of my Estate, old Boy?

L. Baboon. Just as much as you have to do with the Affairs of Lord Strutt.

J. Bull. Ay, but my Trade, my very Being, was concern'd in that.

L. Baboon. And my Interest was concern'd in the other: But let us drop both our Pretences; for I believe it is a moot Point, whether ther I am more likely to make a Master Bull, or you a Lord Strutt.

J. Bull. Agreed, old Boy; but then I must have Security that I shall carry my Broadcloth to Market, old Boy.

L. Baboon. That you shall: Ecclesdun
Castle! Ecclesdun! Remember that: Why would'st thou not take it when it was offer'd thee some Years ago?

J. Bull. I would not take it, because they told me thou would'st not give it me.

L. Baboon. How could Monsieur Bull be so grossly abused by downright Nonsense? They that advis'd you to refuse, must have believed I intended to give, else why would they not make the Experiment? But I can tell you more of that Matter than perhaps you know at present.

J. Bull. But what say'st thou as to the Esquire, Nic. Frog, and the rest of the Tradesmen? I must take Care of them.

L. Baboon. Thou hast but small Obligations to Nic. to my certain Knowledge: He has not us'd me like a Gentleman.

J. Bull. Nic. indeed, is not very nice in your Punctilio's of Ceremony; he is Clownish, as a Man may say; Belching and Calling of Names have been allowed him Time out of Mind, by Prescription: But however, we are en-engag'd in one Common Cause, and I must look after them.

L. Baboon. All Matters that relate to him, and the rest of the Plaintiffs in this Law-Suit, I will refer to your Justice.

C H A P. V.

Nic. Frog's Letter to John Bull; wherein he endeavours to vindicate all his Conduct, with relation to John Bull and the Law-Suit.

NIC. perceiv'd now that his Cully had elop'd, that John intended henceforth to deal without a Broker; but he was resolv'd to leave no Stone unturn'd to recover his Bubble: Amongst other Artifices, he wrote a most obliging Letter, which he sent him Printed in a fair Character.

Dear Friend,

‘ When I consider the late ill Usage I have ‘ met with from you, I was reflecting what ‘ it was that could provoke you to it; but ‘ upon a narrow Inspection into my Con‘ duct, I can find nothing to reproach my ‘ self with, but too partial a Concern for ‘ your Interest. You no sooner set this ‘ Composition a-foot, but I was ready to ‘ comply, and prevented your very Wishes;
 ‘ and

‘ and the Affair might have been ended be‘ fore now, had it not been for the greater ‘ Concerns of Esq; South, and the other poor ‘ Creatures, embark’d in the same Common ‘ Cause, whose Safety touches me to the ‘ Quick. You seem’d a little jealous that I ‘ had dealt unfairly with you in Money-mat‘ ters, till it appear’d by your own Ac‘ counts, that there was something due to ‘ me upon the Ballance. Having nothing to ‘ answer to so plain a Demonstration, you ‘ began to complain as if I had been fami‘ liar with your Reputation; when it is well ‘ known, not only I, but the meanest Ser‘ vant in my Family, talk of you with the ‘ utmost Respect. I have always, as far as ‘ in me lies, exhorted your Servants and ‘ Tenants to be dutiful; not that I any ‘ ways meddle in your domestick Affairs, ‘ which were very unbecoming for me to ‘ do. If some of your Servants express their ‘ great Concern for you in a Manner that is ‘ not so very polite, you ought to impute it ‘ to their extraordinary Zeal, which deserves
 ‘ a Reward rather than a Reproof. You can‘ not reproach me for want of Success at the ‘ Salutation, since I am not Master of the ‘ Passions and Interests of other Folks. I ‘ have beggar’d my self with this Law-Suit,

‘ un-

' undertaken meerly in Complaisance to you
 ' and if you would have had but a little Pa' tience, I had still greater Things in Reserve
 ' that I intended to have done for you. I ' hope what I have said will prevail with you
 ' to lay aside your unreasonable Jealousies,
 ' and that we may have no more Meetings
 ' at the Salutation, spending our Time and ' Money to no Purpose. My Concern for ' your Welfare and Prosperity, almost makes ' me mad. You may be assur'd I will con' tinue to be

Your affectionate

Friend and Servant,

NIC. FROG.

John receiv'd this with a good deal of Sang froid; Transeat (quoth John) cum cæteris erroribus: He was now at his Ease; he saw he could now make a very good Bargain for himself, and a very safe one for other Folks.
 My Shirt (quoth he) is near me, but my Skin is nearer: Whilst I take Care of the Welfare of other Folks; no Body can blame me, to apply a little Balsam to my own Sores.
 It's a pretty thing, after all, for a Man to do his own Business; a Man has such a tender Concern for himself, there's nothing like it.
 This is somewhat better, I trow, than for

John

John Bull to be standing in the Market, like a great Dray-horse, with Frog's Paws upon his Head, What will ye give me for this Beast? Serviteur Nic. Frog, you may kiss my Backside if you please. Though John Bull has not read your Aristotles, Plato's, and Machiavels, he can see as far into a Millstone as another: With that John began to chuckle and laugh, till he was like to burst his Sides.

C H A P. VI.

The Discourse that pass'd between Nic. Frog and Esquire South, which John Bull overheard.

John thought ev'ry Minute a Year till he got into Ecclesdan Castle; he repairs to the Salutation, with a Design to break the Matter gently to his Partners: Before he enter'd, he overheard Nic. and the Esquire in a very pleasant Conference.

Esq; South. O the Ingratitude and Injustice of Mankind! That John Bull, whom I have honour'd with my Friendship and Protection so long, should flinch at last, and pretend that he can disburse no more Money for me; that the Family of the Souths, by his sneaking Temper, should be kept out of their own.

Nic.

Nic. Frog. An't like your Worship, I am in amaze at it; I think the Rogue should be compell'd to do his Duty.

Esq; South. That he should prefer his scandalous Pelf, the Dust and Dregs of the Earth, to the Prosperity and Grandeur of my Family!

Nic. Frog. Nay, he is mistaken there too; for, he would quickly lick himself whole again by his Vails. It's strange he should prefer Philip Baboon's Custom to Esquire South's.

Esq; South. As you say, that my Clothier, that is to get so much by the Purchase, should refuse to put me in Possession; did you ever know any Man's Tradesman serve him so before?

Nic. Frog. No, indeed, an't please your Worship, it is a very unusual Proceeding; and I would not have been guilty of it for the World. If your Honour had not a great Stock of Moderation and Patience, you would not bear it so well as you do.

Esq; South. It is most intolerable, that's certain Nic. and I will be reveng'd.

Nic. Frog. Methinks it is strange, that Philip Baboon's Tenants do not all take your Honour's part, considering how good and gentle a Master you are.

Esq; South. True Nic, but few are sensible of Merit in this World: It is a great Comfort, to have so faithful a Friend as thy self in so critical a Juncture.

Nic. Frog. If all the World should forsake you, be assur'd Nic. Frog never will; let us stick to our Point, and well manage Bull, I'll warrant ye.

Esq; South. Let me kiss thee, dear Nic. I have found one honest Man amongst a thousand at last.

Nic. Frog. If it were possible, your Honour has it in your Power to wed me still closer to your Interest.

Esq; South. Tell me quickly, dear Nic.

Nic. Frog. You know I am your Tenant; the Difference between my Lease and an Inheritance, is such a Trifle, as I am sure you will not grudge your poor Friend; that will be an Encouragement to go on; besides, it will make Bull as mad as the Devil: You and I shall be able to manage him then to some Purpose.

Esq; South. Say no more, it shall be done Nic. to thy Heart's Content.

John, all this while, was listening to this comical Dialogue, and laugh'd heartily in his Sleeve, at the Pride and Simplicity of the Esquire, and the sly Roguery of his Friend

Nic.

Nic. Then of a sudden bolting into the Room, he began to tell them, that he believ'd he had brought Lewis to reasonable Terms, if they would please to hear them.

Then they all bawl'd out aloud, No Composition, Long live Esquire South and the Law! As John was going to proceed, some roar'd, some stamp'd with their Feet, others stop'd their Ears with their Fingers.

Nay, Gentlemen (quoth John) if you will but stop Proceeding for a while, you shall judge your selves whether Lewis's Proposals are reasonable.

All. Very fine indeed, stop Proceeding, and so lose a Term.

J. Bull. Not so neither, we have something by way of Advance, he will put us in Possession of his Mannor and Castle of Ecclesdun.

Nic. Frog. What dost talk of us, thou mean'st thy self?

J. Bull. When Frog took Possession of any thing, it was always said to be for Us, and why may not John Bull be Us, as well as Nic. Frog was Us? I hope John Bull is no more confin'd to Singularity than Nic. Frog; or take it so, the constant Doctrine that thou hast preach'd up for many Years, was that Thou and I are one; and why must we be supposed Two in this Case, that were always ways One before? It's impossible that Thou and I can fall out Nic. we must trust one another: I have trusted thee with a great many things, prithee trust me with this one Trifle.

Nic. Frog. That Principle is true in the main; but there is some Speciality in this Case, that makes it highly inconvenient for us both.

J. Bull. Those are your Jealousies, that the common Enemies sow between us; how often hast thou warn'd me of those Rogues, Nic. that would make us mistrustful of one another?

Nic. Frog. This Eccleſdun-Castle is only a Bone of Contention.

J. Bull. It depends upon you to make it so, for my part I am as peaceable as a Lamb.

Nic. Frog. But do you consider the unwholesomness of the Air and Soil, the Expences of Reparations and Servants, I would scorn to accept of such a Quag-mire.

J. Bull. You are a great Man, Nic. but in my Circumstances, I must be e'en content to take it as it is.

Nic. Frog. And you are really so silly, as to believe the old cheating Rogue will give it you.

J. Bull:

J. Bull. I believe nothing but Matter of Fact, I stand and fall by that, I am resolv'd to put him to it.

Nic. Frog. And so relinquish the hopefullest Cause in the World, a Claim that will certainly in the End, make thy Fortune for ever.

J. Bull. Wilt thou purchase it Nic? thou shalt have a lumping Pennyworth; nay, rather than we should differ, I'll give thee something to take it off my Hands.

Nic. Frog. If thou would'st but moderate that hasty impatient Temper of thine, thou should'st quickly see a better thing than all that: What should'st thou think to find old Lewis turn'd out of his Paternal Estates and Mansion-house of Clay-Pool? Would not that do thy Heart good to see thy old Friend Nic. Frog Lord of Clay-Pool? Then thou and thy Wife and Children shall walk in my Gardens, buy Toys, drink Lemonade, and now and then we should have a Country-dance.

J. Bull. I love to be plain, I'd as lieve see my self in Eccleſdun Castle, as thee in Clay-Pool. I tell you again, Lewis gives this as a Pledge of his Sincerity, if you won't stop Proceeding to hear him, I will.

C H A P. VII.

The rest of Nic's Fetches to keep John out of Ecclefdun-Castle.

WHen Nic. could not dissuade John by Argument, he tried to move his Pity, he pretended to be sick and like to die, that he should leave his Wife and Children in a starving Condition, if John did abandon him; that he was hardly able to crawl about the Room, far less capable to look after such a troublesome Business as this Law-Suit, and therefore begg'd that his good Friend would not leave him. When he saw that John was still inexorable, he pull'd out a Case-Knife, with which he used to Sneaker-snee, and threatned to cut his own Throat. ' Thrice ' he aim'd the Knife to his Wind-pipe with ' a most determin'd threatning Air. What ' signifies Life (quoth he) in this languish- ' ing Condition, it will be some Pleasure that ' my Friends will revenge my Death upon ' this barbarous Man, that has been the ' Cause of it? All this while John look'd Sedate and Calm, neither offering in the least to snatch the Knife, nor stop his Blow, trusting to the Tendernefs Nic. had for his own Person: When he perceiv'd that John was imimmoveable in his Purpose, he apply'd himself to Lewis.

Art thou (quoth he) turn'd Bubble in thy Old Age, from being a Sharper in thy Youth? what occasion hast thou to give up Ecclesdun Castle to John Bull? his Friendship is not worth a Rush, give it me and I'll make it worth the while. If thou dislikest that Proposition, keep it thy self, I'd had rather thou shouldest have it than he. If thou hearkens not to my Advice, take what follows; Esquire South and I will go on with our Law-suit in Spite of John Bull's Teeth.

L. Baboon. Monsieur Bull has used me like a Gentleman, and I am resolved to make good my Promise, and trust him for the Consequences.

Nic. Frog. Then I tell thee thou art an old doating Fool. With that Nic. bounc'd up with a Spring equal to that of one of your nimblest Tumblers or Rope Dancers, falls foul upon John Bull to snatch the Cudgel he had in his Hand, that he might Thwack Lewis with it. John held it fast, so that there was no wrenching it from him. At last Esquire South buckl'd to, to assist his Friend Nic. John hall'd on one Side, and they two on the other; sometimes they were like to pull John over; then it went, all of a sudden again

again, on John's Side, so they went see-sawing up and down, from one End of the Room to the other: Down tumbled the Tables, Bottles, Glaſſes, and Tobacco Pipes: The Wine and the Tobacco were all ſpilt about the Room, and the little Fellows were almost trod under Foot, 'till more of the Tradesmen joining with Nic. and the Esquire, John was hardly able to pull againſt them all, yet he never quit hold of his truſty Cudgel; which by the contranitent Force of two ſo great Powers, broke ſhort in his Hands. Nic. ſeiz'd the longer End, and with it began to Baſtinado Old Lewis, who had ſlunk into a Corner, waiting the Event of this Squabble. Nic. came up to him with an insolent menacing Air, ſo that the old Fellow was forc'd to skuttle out of the Room, and retire behind a Dung-cart: He call'd to Nic. thou insolent Jackanapes, time was when thou durſt not have uſed me ſo, thou now takeſt me unprovided, but old and infirm as I am, I ſhall find a Weapon by and by to chaſtiſe thy Impudence.

When John Bull had recover'd his Breath, he began to parly with Nic. Friend Nic. I am glad to find thee ſo ſtrong after thy great Complaints; really thy Motions Nic. are pretty Vigorous for a conſumptive Man. As for thy worldly worldly Affairs Nic. if it can do thee any Service, I freely make over to thee this profitable Law-Suit; and I desire all these Gentlemen to bear Witness to this my Act and Deed, yours be all the Gain, as mine has been the Charges, I have brought it to bear finely: However, all I have laid out upon it goes for nothing, thou shalt have it with all its Appurtenances, I ask nothing but leave to go home.

Nic. Frog. The Counsel are fee'd, and all Things prepared for a Trial, thou shalt be forced to stand the Issue: It shall be pleaded in thy Name as well as mine: Go home if thou can't, the Gates are shut, the Turnpikes locked, and the Roads barracado'd.

J. Bull. Even these very Ways Nic. that thou toldest me, were as open to me as thyself? If I can't pass with my own Equipage, what can I expect for my Goods and Waggon? I am denied Passage through those very Grounds that I have purchased with my own Money; however, I am glad I have made the Experiment, it may serve me in some stead.

John Bull was so over-joy'd that he was going to take Possession of Ecclefdun, that nothing could vex him. Nic. (quoth he) I am just a going to leave thee, cast a kind Look upon me at parting.

Nic. look'd sowl and grum, and would not open his Mouth.

J. Bull. I wish thee all the Success that thy Heart can desire, and that these honest Gentlemen of the long Rob may have their Belly full of Law.

Nic could stand it no longer, but flung out of the Room with Disdain, and beckon'd the Lawyers to follow him.

J. Bull. Buy, buy, Nic, not one poor Smile at parting, won't you shake your day day, Nic? Buy Nic: With that John march'd out of the common Road cross the Country, to take Possession of Ecclesdun.

C H A P. VIII.

Of the great Joy that John express'd when he got Possession of Ecclesdun.

WHEN John had got into his Castle, he seem'd like Ulysses upon his Plank after he had been well sous'd in Salt-water; who (as Homer says) was as glad as a Judge going to sit down to Dinner, after hearing a long Cause upon the Bench. I dare say John Bull's Joy was equal to that of either of the two: he skip'd from Room to Room; ran up up Stairs and down Stairs, from the Kitchen to the Garrets, and from the Garrets to the Kitchen ; he peep'd into every Crany ; sometimes he admired the Beauty of the Architecture, and the vast Solidity of the Mafons Work ; at other times he commended the Symetry and Proportion of the Rooms. He walk'd about the Gardens ; he Bath'd himself in the Canal, swimming, diving, and beating the liquid Element, like a milk-white Swan. The Hall resounded with the sprightly Violin and the martial Hautboy. The Family trip'd it about and Caper'd like Hail-stones bounding from a Marble Floor : Wine, Ale and October flew about as plentifully as Kennel Water ; then a Frolick took John in the Head to call up some of Nic. Frog's Pensioners that had been so mutinous in his Family.

J. Ball. Are you glad to see your Master in Ecclesdun Castle ?

All. Yes indeed, Sir.

J. Ball. Extremely glad ?

All. Extremely glad, Sir.

J. Ball. Swear to me that you are so.

Then they began to damn and sink their Souls to the lowest Pit of Hell, if any Person in the World rejoic'd more than they did

J. Bull. Now hang me if I don't believe you are a Parcel of perjur'd Rascals; however take this Bumper of October to your Master's Health.

Then John got upon the Battlements, and looking over he call'd to Nic Frog.

How d'ye do Nic? D'ye see where I am Nic? I hope the Cause goes on swimmingly Nic; when dost thou intend to go to Clay-Pool, Nic? Wilt thou buy there some High-Heads of the newest Cut for my Daughters? How comest thou to go with thy Arm tied up? Has old Lewis given thee a Rap over the Finger-ends? Thy Weapon was a good One when I weilded it, but the Butt-end remains in my Hands. I am so busy in packing up my Goods, that I have no time to talk with thee any longer: It would do thy Heart good to see what Waggon Loads I am preparing for Market; if thou wantest any good Office of mine, for all that has happen'd, I will use thee well Nic; buy Nic:

*†§ John Bull's Thanks to Sir Roger, and Nic Frog's Malediction upon all Shrews, the Original Cause of his Misfortunes, are reserv'd for the next Volume.
